

WEEKLY INTOUCH

fashion trauma Even celebs

Is she moonlighting as a house painter?

Britney Spears looks really sloppy, says fashion expert Danna Weiss. Her top doesn't fit, her jeans are too long, and all of her clothes are stained! We can live with paint-splattered jeans, and rips are OK — but the combination (plus the jeans' sidewalk-scraping length) is just too much.

Britney's winning look

When she keeps things simple, as she does here in a figure-flattering dress, Britney looks perfect.

Looks like Claire made a jacket from last year's Christmas wrapping.

Where's the bow?

Claire Danes' jacket is too boxy, while the pattern is too busy. Memo to Claire: Shoulder pads are out. Try a super-trendy cropped tweed jacket to fix this look.

BRITNEY SPEARS: JEFFREY MATTAR; CLAIRE DANES: JEFFREY MATTAR

strike out, but can these Oops! outfits be saved?

This is definitely not model behavior.

Neon no-no

Weiss says bright colors should be worn with light neutrals, not black, to avoid looking Halloweenish. Heidi Klum should swap the black for a tan coat and boots.

Star of the world's first conservative peep show

Sheer madness

Unless you have abs of steel, a sheer panel across your stomach isn't cool, notes Weiss. If Melissa Joan Hart opted instead for a solid material, she'd look fab.

And she thought lawsuits were her biggest problem.

No love for this outfit

If Courtney Love wants to have fun with accessories, she needs to pick one statement piece and lose the rest. She could swap the top for a fitted tee.