Flat-chested and fair-haired, Brittany looked totally different in July 2004.

Brittany showed off her eye-popping cleavage while promoting Crest Whitestrips in New York last month.

Brittany most likely owes her cleavage to a bra that's padded on the sides and the bottom, says celebrity stylist Danna Weiss, to "push her breasts up and in."

Did Brittany get implants?

Is she the latest in a long line of starlets to go under the knife?

Brittany Murphy may be playing her raunchiest role ever in Sex City, but everyone's really talking about her recent transformation from a petite blonde to a really busy brunette! Though the 27-year-old denies ever having plastic surgery, she admits that she's used styling tricks to boost her bust. "I've always metamorphosized," she says. "I've padded myself for different roles!" And even though her breasts appear bigger and rounder, Beverly Hills plastic surgeon Steven J. Varkony doesn't think she got implants.

"Her entire breast is sitting up in the middle and she doesn't have fullness on the outside or underneath," he says. Brittany most likely owes her cleavage to a bra that's padded on the sides and the bottom, says celebrity stylist Danna Weiss, to "push her breasts up and in."
