

fashion trauma Even celebs

Ms. Jackson, those jeans are nasty!

Nothing here is worthy of an icon like Jamet Jackson — not the bag, not the jeans, not the shirt, not the bra, says fashion expert Danna Weiss. The shirt is too tight, which causes her bust and stomach to pop out; it should be one size bigger (and ironed!). Such baggy jeans mask Janet's toned legs (with the exception of the tacky leg-baring holes); dark, fitted jeans would be more dressy and fastering. Finishing touches should include black stillettos to give her height and a pendant necklace to draw attention to her gorgeous neckline.

Janet's winning look

Tutu much!

Kirsten Dunst got half of her look right, says Weiss. The skirt with leggings must go, but the elegant top would be sweet paired with the skirt in nude with a slip underneath.

strike out, but can these Oops! outfits be saved?

Dizzying print

While Juliette Lewis' top is classy, her pants are trashy. Head-to-toe white is a hot trend right now, so she should try wide-legged pants that match her top.

Where's her crystal ball?

This billowy outfit emphasizes Genie Francis' fuller figure, notes Weiss. The skirt should be a solid color and paired with a tailored jacket for a classy look.

Gray daze

Debi Mazar has a case of material overload. "Everything has to be shortened," Weiss says. If the skirt, ruffle and jacket were taken up, she'd look better.